Aastha Kalra

Frontend Developer

I'm currently in my Final year of undergraduate studies, and my enthusiasm lies in crafting impeccable user interfaces for web applications. My aspiration for the near future is to secure a frontend developer job where I can contribute and learn. My ultimate goal is to evolve into a versatile full stack developer. I'm inclined to embrace emerging technologies and incorporate them into my work, and I'm well-equipped to manage the responsibilities that come with it.
